Go Facts: Reading and Writing Informational Text

A comprehensive, leveled reading and writing program for teaching the elements of nonfiction texts.

With Go Facts, the reading and writing connection has never been stronger. By actively linking students' reading and writing activities, the program supports young readers in their attempts to learn the structures and conventions of nonfiction writing.

Go Facts includes 72 well-written, accurate, and easy-to-read Student Books organized into 10 progressive sets. Each Student Book acts as a text model and helps students internalize the structures, organizations, and conventions of informational report writing. Sets 1-4 include a Big Book version of one of the titles in the set—perfect for modeling the elements of informational texts.

Go Facts is the only program that focuses on helping young students comprehend content through the integration of both reading and writing strategies.

Includes a FREE Smart Word vocabulary card and book label for every leveled title.

Butterfly Life Cycle • Card 7

Cracking the Case

The butterfly splits through the chrysalis—and out it comes! When it emerges, its wings are small, wet, and crumpled. It pumps blood into the veins in its wings. Then it spreads its wings and flaps them in the air so they can dry. The butterfly is now an adult. The changes it has gone through are called its metamorphosis.

adult	a grown-up animal; the last stage of a butterfly's life cycle
butterfly	a flying insect with large, often brightly colored wings
emerge	come out
metamorphosis	changes some animals go through as they grow from eggs to adults
vein	tube that supports an insect's wing and brings it nourishment
wing	body part used for flying

English	Spanish
adult	el adulto
butterfly	la mariposa
emerge	emerger
metamorphosis	la metamórfosis
vein	la vena
wing	el ala

Newbridge Fluency Practice

Boost student performance—build the fluency and comprehension skills needed to improve achievement in all content areas!

Newbridge Fluency Practice addresses the challenges students face in reading informational text—a genre central to success across the curriculum. Even students who read fiction fluently can find that nonfiction raises new challenges to their comprehension. Repeated reading of these passages will help students master the features and structures they must internalize to develop fluency with informational text and focus on comprehension. Each of the three kits includes 10 each of 40 different consumable practice passages—ideal for independent work and at-home practice—and a Program Guide.

- Achieve AYP with short, nonfiction texts that support your standards-based content.
- Keep students engaged and motivated with high-interest passages at their “just right” level for them.
- Assess improvements in vocabulary and comprehension with a built-in quiz.
